Duff Engineers At Work on Terminal Rail, Dock Plans

Blue Print Shows Three Port Plans:—Beaumont, Port Neches and Port Arthur

Apparently in anticipation of a favorable decision by the Interstate Commerce commission, a crew of engineers today were reported to be busily engaged in drawing up plans for an extensive system of docks, warehouses and switching facilities for C. R. C. Duff's proposed terminals.

No final decision, it is stated, has been made by Col. Duff as to the location of the terminals, despite persistent reports to the contrary.

A few days ago the West Texas Chamber of Commerce went on record as endorsing Port Arthur as the most logical site for the terminal system; this following a study of future facilities for that territory after the Duff road is completed to Port Arthur.

Houston Firm at Work on Plans

Afactor entering into the decision was the need of West and Central Texas for a second and more direct route to the Gulf. Location at Port Arthur, it was decided by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, would fill the need.

Houston engineers are at work on the plans and specifications at the present time, it is authentically declared, with considerable secrecy surrounding their work.

Purpose of preparations, of plans in advance of a decision by the Interstate Commerce commission, it is said, is merely as a measure of preparation, since the weeks elapsing while awaiting a decision may thus be put to profitable use and the plans be in such shape when the decision does come as to permit of immediate activities.

Three Plans in Nucleus

Of Col. Duff's showing ports of the Sabine district, the waterway, the industrial district, location of existing railroads and preliminary lines of the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine railway, three port plans are set forth.

Plan No. 1, shown to be located just north of Port Arthur, about four miles above the pleasure pier and two miles this side of the canal lock, contemplate two projects, one located on the west bank of the canal and the other, directly opposite it, across the spoil bank and on the lake. Just what facilities will be constructed are not set forth on the map.

For the first time the lake angle of the Duff project is brought to notice, indicating that Lake Sabine in Duff's water transportation scheme ins actively being taken into

ROBERTSON TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Address To Be Made at Baptist Church Lawn

Judge Felix D. Robertson of Dallas, prominent gubernatorial aspirant, will speak in behalf of his candidacy tonight at 8 o'clock on the lawn of the First Baptist church, Fifth and Shreveport, and one of the largest crowds to hear a candidate here since the present campaign began is being arranged for, George Weddell, campaign manager here, said today.

Judge Robertson had originally arranged to speak here this afternoon but urgent requests of his friends caused him to change his engagement until tonight. The candidate will be introduced by Rev. V. A. Godbey, pastor of the First Methodist Church, South. A number of leading citizens of Port Arthur and other parts of Jefferson county will be on the platform tonight, according to Weddell.

Booster Band to Play

One of the features of the speaking program will be a band concert by the Port Arthur Roosters' band. Secretary Bob Safley of the Roosters' states the band members will be at the First Baptist church at 7 o'clock and will parade the downtown area before the speaking starts.

Judge Robertson is a native Texan and is at present judge of the district criminal court at Dallas. He served during the world war as a major of artillery. He practiced law in Waco before moving to Dallas.

SIX NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

Triple Collision Injures Four Sunday Riders

Six Port Arthurians had a close call yesterday afternoon on the Port Arthur-Beaumont road when the front end of their car was crushed in a triple collision, but all escaped with only slight bruises.

Four Beaumont persons in the two other cars were injured, two of them seriously. The collision took place about 4:30 yesterday afternoon four miles from Beaumont.

One Takes Ditch

The Port Arthur car, driven by Mrs. J. B. Mount, 1214 Procter street, was brought to a standstill by Mrs. Mount on the edge of the pavement when the three cars struck while parallel. Another car, driven by George R. Pederson of Beaumont, was forced into the ditch by the middle car, a sedan towing another auto and driven by a man named Hitchcock. The Port Arthur car, headed away from Beaumont, was struck head-on, and the entire front smashed. The Hitchcock car was driving towards Beaumont.

Two babies were also in the Port Arthur car, one of them having a tooth knocked out in the wreck.

Two Seriously Hurt

Others in the Port Arthur car were Miss Ivy Taylor, 1214 Procter street; Mrs. Harry Ramsey, 223 Third street; A. Andreus and his mother; and Mrs. Clara Taylor, 2721 Fifteenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Pederson were most seriously injured, both receiving numerous cuts and bruises. Mrs. Pederson was also reported as internally injured. Reports here that Pederson had died last night could not be confirmed. In the Pederson car were also George Pederson, Jr., and Mrs. Ovie Preycan of Nederland, both of whom were bruised.

ANTHRAX EPIDEMIC NOT APPEARING HERE YET

The anthrax epidemic raging among cattle and livestock around Beaumont and Orange has not reached Port Arthur yet and the outlook that this district will not be visited by the plague is good at the present time according to Dr. O. J. Baker, city health inspector.

Seven cases of anthrax at El Vista has been found and this is the closest the scourge has come to the city. There are approximately 300 head of mules in Port Arthur city limits but not one of these has any symptoms of the disease, Dr. Baker says.

SLAVI OWNERS ASK $35,000

Claim Steamer Comet Disregarded Signals

DAMAGE EXCEEDS REPORT

Dry Dock for Two in Canal Crash Necessary

Alleging the steamship Comet disregarded all signals to stop and would not wait until the Lake Slavi made its way to a wide place in the ship canal, owners of the latter Saturday filed suit in federal court asking $35,000 as a result of a collision between the two here near the Pleasure Pier bridge Saturday afternoon.

The Lake Slavi proceeded to Beaumont where an inspection revealed 12 broken bow plates and other damage.

Claims Vessel Stopped

The Comet remained here awaiting further orders and is said to have been more extensively damaged than the Lake Slavi. The Comet was putting out to sea and the Lake Slavi was en route to Beaumont.

Both ships were fully loaded. The Comet was towing the Barge Socony 83 when the two collided. The Lake Slavi petition for damage avers the ship had its engine at a dead stop and two anchors out. These were disregarded by the Comet, the petition reads, resulting in a head-on collision.

Both ships will be kept in port, the Lake Slavi at Beaumont and the Comet here, until the lawsuit is settled, federal men here Saturday indicated.

CANDIDATES GET QUESTIONNAIRES

Farm - Labor Group Asks Pointed Questions

Jefferson county candidates for district, county and precinct offices will know the worst this week, so far as the county Farm-Labor political conference is concerned, Henry Maitre declared today.

The Farm-Labor stand with respect to candidates will be made known just as soon as questionnaires now in the hands of aspirants to office have been received.

Questions Withheld

The questionnaire, it is understood, asks some very pointed questions, answers to which must be of such character as to justify endorsement. The nature of the questions was not disclosed, except that in general terms they relate to law enforcement, sympathy with Farm-Labor legislation on the part of candidates for state senator and representative, and on the part of candidates for county commissioner satisfactory assurances that voters will have more to say in the expenditure of county funds. This question, it is understood, arose out of several of the present board of commissioners letting a $72,000 contract for a new tax system; and contract for plans and specifications of the proposed new county jail, neither of these proposals having been submitted to the wishes of the voters.

The commissioners since have abrogated both contracts.

BRAZIL REVOLT UNDER CONTROL

Troops Mutiny; But Loyal Guards Quell Row

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 6. (Delayed)—A section of the army of the state of Sao Paulo rebelled against its officers early Saturday, seized public buildings and caused considerable excitement before order was restored by federal troops over Saturday and today.

The movement apparently started because of dissatisfaction in the ranks of the decision of the Sao Paulo state government to renew its contract for a French military mission, which has been instructing and reorganizing the state's military forces for the last three years.

President and Mrs. Coolidge, worn and tired from an almost unbroken vigil of 72 hours, left the hospital to lunch at the White House, indicating that no immediate change for the worse was in prospect.

Dr. William M. Geary Morgan, stomach specialist of Washington, was added to the list of consultants today.

Wyndelt states he will be at the police station each morning at 9, afternoon at 3 and evening at 7:30. He asks these hours be observed so he can attend to his other duties in the meantime.

The Red Cross hut is open each day to former service men who can not come to the Chamber of Commerce office at night and sign the application blanks.

Filling station men generally report brisk sales.

PEACE PACTS KILLED

Would Have Released Delegates From Pledges

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—Leaderless, and sweltering through ballot after ballot, the democratic convention continued to demonstrate just what can be done in the way of bringing about a deadlock when religious issues are injected into politics.

BIG CONVENTION SUSPENDS RULES TO ACCEPT PLAN

Unit Rule Undisturbed But Lid Is Off

VOTE 1,005 TO 8

Reports Persist of Rising Tide to Ralston

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—The convention adjourned until 8:30 p. m., with every prospect ripe for a realignment of forces to make a nomination.

By United Press

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 7.—William G. McAdoo suffered a crushing defeat in the democratic national convention this afternoon when the convention by an overwhelming vote adopted a resolution to suspend the rules for the acceptance of the conference peace committee's report recommending that delegates be released from their pledges and obligations to all candidates.

The vote on the resolution was, yes 1,005; no 87.

Four not voting. Total 1,096.

Unit Rule Still Holds

Hurried conferences were in progress immediately upon adoption of their resolution. Senator Pat Harrison came to the floor saying he had been in session with representatives of eight states who intended to switch to Senator Ralston of Indiana. Tom Taggart became more active on the floor, and there were reports of a big Ralston "ride" coming.

This does not disturb the unit rule but it throws the convention wide open. And that many of McAdoo's delegates desire to get away was demonstrated when several states, among them Texas, which have voted steadily for him cast their ballots for adoption of the resolution suspending the rules.

McAdoo opposed the conference report, personally sending a letter to Chairman Walsh last night submitting an alternate proposal.

Here's the Roll Call

Alabama—yes 24; Arazina—yes 5, no 1; Arkansas—yes 18; California—yes 26; Colorado—yes 10, not voting 2, Connecticut—yes 13, no 1; Delaware—yes 6; Florida—yes 7, no 4, not voting 1; Georgia—no 28; Idaho—no 8; Illinois—yes 44; no 14; Indiana—yes 30; Iowa—yes 26.

Kansas—yes 20 Kentucky—yes 26; Louisiana—yes 20; Maine—yes 12; Maryland—yes 16, Massachusetts—36; Michigan—yes 29; no 1; Minnesota—yes 21; not voting 3; Mississippi—yes 20, Missouri—yes 36; Montana—yes 6; no 2; Nebraska—yes 8; no 6; Nevada—yes 6; New Hampshire—yes 8.

New Jersey—yes 28; New Mexico—yes 6; New York—yes 90; North Carolina—yes 24; North Dakota—yes 5; no 5; Ohio—yes 48; Oklahoma—yes 20; Oregon 10; Pennsylvania—yes 71; no 5; Rhode Island—yes 10; South Carolina—yes 18. South Dakota—yes 9; no 1; Tennessee—yes 24.

Texas—yes 40; Utah—no 8; Vermont—yes 8; Virginia — yes 24; Washington—yes 11; West Virginia—yes 17; no 1; Wisconsin—yes 26; Wyoming—yes 6; Alaska—yes 6; District of Columbia—yes 6; Hawaii—yes 6; Porto Rico—yes 6; Canal Zone—yes 6.

Chairman Walsh explained for the benefit of the delegates that the resolution adopted does not abrogate the unit rule but merely expresses the sense of the convention that pledges given by delegates individually to candidates might now be relieved of further adherence to those pledges without being subjected to criticism. Insofar, however, as the unit rule has been imposed on delegations that rules must continue to be applied, Walsh said, except as its abrogation may be accomplised by the delegation itself.

Hydrographer Finishes Coast Survey After 21 Months Here

Area West From Sabine Pass To McFadden's Beach Several Feet Shallower After 40 Years

Today the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey vessel Hydrographer is pushing her way across the gulf to Tampa, Fla., bidding farewell to Port Arthur early this morning. With five officers and a crew of 38 men, the Hydrographer spent 21 months charting the Gulf waters of the Sabine district—for the first time since 1883.

Ordinarily line on board a coast and geodetic survey vessel would not seem to promise thrills, and especially not along the calm and prosaic Texas coast, but Lieutenant C. M. Thomas, executive office of the Hydrographer can assure you that he has had enough thrills for some time.

"I thought I wouldn't live to tell about it," Thomas said last night in telling about being caught in a marsh while racing the shoreline. "Snakes, mud, tall grass, and what not was what I fought all day. Another fellow and I were up to our waists in mud—thought we never would get out."

Work Covers Large Areas

Until last month the Hydrographer, one of 35 government vessels constantly engaged in sounding depths along the coast was assisted

SERMON SCORES BAD ETIQUETTE

Rev. Yelderman Likens Kingdom to Feast

Comparing the Kingdom of Heaven to a wedding feast to which invitations were either scorned or ignored, Rev. R. R. Yelderman spoke to a large audience last night at the First Christian church on the subject "Bad Manners Toward God."

"We always appreciate the individual with good manners," Rev. Yelderman said. "When one observes the laws of etiquette he is said to have good manners. But when one fails to observe those laws he is marked as a bore or one who has no social culture. I know of people who have the best manners in the world in social courtesies to have the worst manners in the world toward God—their Heavenly Father.

"The Kingdom of Heaven has been likened unto a feast where people have been invited but where the invitations have been scorned, ignored, or made light of. In the parable we find that those invited laid hold of the messenger and killed him. It is the way with people when God invites them to his feast of life today. 'Come, all things are ready' that's the great invitation. There are those today who would ignore or shun God's invitation: there are others who make light of His invitation: and there are still others who refuse to attend the feast of life because they don't like someone who has received an invitation.

Invitation to All

"The invitation is to whosoever will. It is bad manners not to accept an invitation without a plausible excuse today. The host feels insulted. God feels the same way. We insult God when we do not accept His invitation. What kind of manners has a person who flings the invitation in the face of God—or who considers the invitation as a joke? The invitation to come to God—to come to the feast of the salvation is being treated as a joke by many here in Port Arthur and in that last great day God is going to treat them as jokes.

"Christ is knocking at the door of your life today. Will you open that door or will you insult Him by refusing to open it. What would a person think of you if he knocked at your door knowing you to be at home and you refuse to open it? When you refuse to open the door for Christ you have insulted the best friend you have in life. You have blasphemed Him.

"God has given us the gift of His eternal son. How do we treat that gift? We receive all the blessings of life from Him. Are we going to go through life without saying 'thank you' to Him? No person who receives a gift today refuses to say 'thank you'. He does not have good manners if he does. In the same way we show bad manners toward God when we refuse to say 'thank you' to Him."

German Workers Must Wear National Colors

BERLIN, July 7.—The German republic is remembering at last that it has its own colors. As the first organization, the railroads have ordered that their employees wear on their caps the official colors of the country—black, red and gold.

Heretofore it has been left to the officials to wear whatever "cocade" they wanted to, and most of them stuck to heir old blue-white, green-white and what other colors their respective provinces had previously flown. A cocarde in the official colors practically did not exist hiherto.

Incidentally, the Reichstag will soon have to deal with a motion of Folks-party demanding that the old black-white and red be reinstated as the country's official colors.

TO GET ELECTRICITY FROM STEAM GEYSER

SALEM, Ore., July 7.—A new method of harnessing natural power is under consideration in remote areas of Lake county.

Live steam issuing from geysers and deep hot wells may be the source of electric power which may mean the development of lumber and other industries through the availability of cheap power.

WHEN THE SHIPS COME IN

From the four corners of the world they come—ships laden with merchandise. From far off China, from aggressive little Japan, from Sunny Cuba, from romantic Egypt, from Africa, Asia,—from the Polar Regions, from the Tropics. From East, West, North, South—all coming in response to the demand of the retail trade.

Stocks

The stocks to be seen in the modern retail store represent the output of the countries of the earth. As you inspect a piece of silk, does it ever occur to you that this is the output of one of nature's greatest mysteries—the silk worm? Or as you admire a beautiful suite of furniture, do you give thought to the many years required for the tree to grow to maturity. and the labor, expense and thought necessary to turn out this beautiful Mahogany suite?

Merchants Must Know

And one might run down the list—shoes, hardware, automobiles, foodstuffs, etc. Each has a wonderful history—an education in themselves. But these things are usually given scant study. It is enough for the average buyer to know styles and quality. It is not enough that he know what shall be worn this year. He must look far ahead. He must know and meet the demands of his customers. He must be able to forecast accurately the coming merchandise events.

Keeping In Touch

He must make his regular trips to market, he may overestimate the buying of the coming season, in which case he must take his loss. In short, the successful merchant has but one idea, one overwhelming desire—the desire to serve. Without this desire his business life is shortlived.

Value of the Merchant

And the Retail merchant does keep prices down. Imagine, if you can, the conditions if the retail merchant were eliminated. Buying stations would have to be installed, or in most cases buying would be done on a hit or miss basis. Much of the merchandise would have to be purchased without seeing it. Prices would naturally be increased to meet the added cost of marketing. Conditions would be far from satisfactory.

Miss Gladys Fulbright And R. M. McCauley Wed At Lovely Home Ceremony

The charm of a home wedding was fully demonstrated Saturday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Fulbright, 3149 Eighth street, when their daughter, Miss Gladys Fulbright, became the attractive bride of Mr. R. M. McCauley of Waco, with Rev. Vernon G. Miles performing the impressive ring ceremony.

The home was in beautiful bridal adornment for the lovely event, with a motif of pink and white interwoven in all details of the affair. The ceremony was performed in the living room before improvised altar fashioned of palms and ferns before the mantle, which was banked with similar green foliage, and guarded on either side by tall baskets tied with yellow and white meline and filled with lovely pink roses, Shasta daisies and green fern.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. E. H. McGuire sang "O Promise Me," the soft strains modulating into Lohengrin's wedding march announcing the time for the ceremony.

The bridal party was led by the ring bearer, dainty little Marjorie Orrill, bearing the ring in a beautiful cluster of gladiola.

Miss Lewis McElyea of Beaumont, the maid of honor, was charming in a navy blue frock, elaborately beaded with cut glass beads. She carried a bouquet of gorgeous pink roses.

Dr. C. W. Fulbright, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bride's gown was an early fall model of taupe canton crepe, with which she wore harmonizing accessories. A bridal touch was given her lovely costume by her corsage of exquisite roses and lilies of the valley intermingled with fern.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McCauley left for Waco where they will make their home.

The wedding is of much interest to a wide circle of friends in Port Arthur owing to the popularity of the pretty bride. She is a graduate of Port Arthur High school and later attended Baylor University. It was at Baylor University, that the romance, which culminated in Saturday morning's wedding, had its inception. The wedding will rob Port Arthur of one of its most attractive young women.

The groom is a promising young lawyer of Waco and the son of Ex-City Manager J. B. McCauley.

Guests attending the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Orrill and daughter, Marjorie; Mrs. E. E. Talley, Mr. and Mrs. George Melton, Mrs. R. Kellogg, Mrs. J. R. Summy, Mrs. E. H. McGuire, Mrs. A. L. Currie and daughters, Lillie Mae and Lucille; Mrs. W. W. Hanchett, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hampton and daughter, Ruth; Mrs. J. E. Benton, Dr. B. H. Davidson, Misses Faydette Talley, Elizabeth Melton, Peggy Jacobs, Sylvia Jacobs, Christine Davidson, Linnie Hamilton, Ruth Culp; Messrs. F. D. McCleave, Wright Ghenault, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Fulbright, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bryan and son, Donnie Heard, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Currie and daughter, Rosemary and Dr. C. W. Fulbright.

Out-of-town guests included J. B. McCauley, father of the groom of Waco, Mrs. C. M. Rigney, the bride's sister of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fulbright, Leroy Fulbright and Miss Lewis McElyea of Beaumont.

"GIRL SHY"

Romance and thrill mingle with comedy to make Harold Lloyd's new feature Pathecomedy, "Girl Shy," now showing at the Cameo theatre a suitable introduction for him to the American public as an independent producer.

It was while making part of the thrill action for this new production that Lloyd received the injury which laid him low for two weeks and necessitated the taking of six stitches in his head.

Before making this particular scene Lloyd's directors, Fred Newmeyer and Sam Taylor, tried to talk the noted comedian into using a double.

"It's very risky," they told him.

But Lloyd refuses to let anyone take a chance that he himself would not risk, so he rode on the rear step of a horse cart driven at thirty-five miles an hour down a Los Angeles boulevard. This was the stunt which led to his injury. A fractious fire nozzle got away from Lloyd, striking him with trip hammer force across the forehead and knocking him off the fire engine.

For a minute the other members of the Lloyd company who witnessed the accident thought he had suffered a fractured skull, but it was soon apparent that while painful, the injury would not prove really serious.

Lloyd received immediate treatment at the home of a nearby physician, but it was several days before he recovered from the shock.

The scene in which Lloyd was hurt is a prominent part of the thrill sequence in "Girl Shy," and the danger of the situation is said to be quite palpable upon the screen.

"SIX CYLINDER LOVE"

"Believe me it's hard for a fellow who works all day and sometimes into the night to get as much exercise as he should," lamented Ernest Truex, while making the William Fox special, "Six Cylinder Love," which is now to be seen at the Peoples theatre.

"Look at me," tragically, "I haven't played golf in a week. I get to the studio by 9 in the morning. That means getting up by 7 to make it. I perish under the broiling klieg lights most of the day. At 5 o'clock I am often told to stay until 10 to 'shoot' some important scenes.

"By 12 o'clock I stagger into my home, worn out with the day's enervating work. By 6 o'clock I am up again and on my way to the studio.

"Wow," lamented Ernie, but he winked his left eye surreptitiously, "it's hard for a fellow who works all day to get exercise."

GYPSY WAYFARERS BIG STRAND HIT

A million dollars worth of pep—that's the way Gypsy Wayfarers the all girl orchestra now playing a four day engagement at the Strand theater in this city. The act is composed of six girls, all under twenty-one years of age and a more accomplished aggregation of young musicians have probably never visited Port Arthur before. Their act which is just off big time is a combination of jazz and classical music, old time melodies, blue songs, and Spanish dancing.

Miss Laura Marie Harrington, pianist and director is a vivacious miss, who inspires her fellow artists to give the audience the best that is in them at every performance. Virginia Smith, violinist and blue singer, brought down the house last night with her "Mama Goes Everywhere, Papa Goes" and equalling the popularity of her selection was the solo of Bonnie Smith, a combination of old melodies including "Annie Rooney," "McGinity Went Down to the Sea," "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet," and other old favorites. Bae Wise is a whiz on saxophone, and Shirley Thomas blows a wicked trumpet to say the least. The climax to this vaudeville treat was the Spanish dancing of Billie Farley, banjoist, who executed innumerably fancy steps to the accompaniment of La Paloma. Interspersed with popular jazz aires were numbers of classical pieces and the girls finished their act with a heavy overture which won round after round of applause after the last curtain fell.

The orchestra is attractively costumed in gypsy dresses of every hue and a variety of lighting effects added a great deal to the excellency of the performance.

The Gypsy Wayfarers will be here all week.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO PRISCILLA BRADFORD

MY DEAR PRISCILLA:

You cannot tell how lonely I have been since you left me for New York. It is not good for an old woman like me to live alone and I am delighted to know that when you return you are going to bring whatever part of your goods and chattels you may desire and come over to my house or rather your house—and live with me until the book is closed. Today I made my will, my dear, and left you all my small possessions.

It is a sad thing, dear Priscilla, to realize after you have borne a child and brought him up as near God-fearing as you could, that he would cast off his mother in her old age. Although it grieves me to the heart to know this, my grief is not nearly as great as my fear—fear for him—for we know that just so surely as a child casts off his mother or father, just so surely will he be cast off by his child. This of course is more sure in the case of John, because he has taken into his heart and home a nameless child who will surely disappoint, if not dishonor him.

I am quite sure you are mistaken, dear Priscilla, about seeing Leslie on the street in New York. I have learned in a roundabout way that her father is very ill and if she had left her home for any place it would be to go to him. I would write to her or to John and say that you thought you had seen her, but I solemnly vowed to myself that I would never again write to my son until he has written to me and in some way apoloize, if not ask for my forgiveness, for the letters he has sent me.

I do not want to shorten your stay at all in New York City, but I shall be very lonely until you return to

Your devoted friend,
MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

—BE SURE YOUR SIN WILL FIND YOU OUT.—NUMBERS 32:33. EVERY SIN PROVOKES ITS PUNISHMENT.—A. BRONSON ALCOTT.

The Editorial Mind

However, comma—

Odds and Ends and Comment on Our Morning Mail

You would die within a matter of minutes if bitten by a cobra, the most deadly of serpents. This hooded snake kills thousands of people a year in India alone.

Doctors for centuries have sought a remedy that would counteract the cobra's poison. They have not found it.

And yet there is a remedy waiting to be discovered.

You've heard of the mongoose, about the size of a ferret. It fearlessly attacks and kills the cobra. Occasionally it is bitten. Die? No. It dashes into the jungle, obtains something that counteracts cobra venom—probably a plant—and returns as if it had never been a victim.

The mongoose by instinct knows the remedy.

That remedy awaits discovery by man.

The solution of every problem lies waiting in nature. Nature has a balance for everything—a cure for every disease, a remedy for every poison. It's all by the basic law that for every action there is an equivalent reaction.

The very existence of a problem means that a solution of the problem exists.

There is no problem without a solution, no barrier that cannot be climbed, no handicap or obstacle that cannot be overcome.

Obviously, it is foolish for us ever to allow ourselves to be discouraged. There is a way out of all trouble—if we will only fight doggedly to find it.

All of man's discoveries and progress are nothing more than copying and adapting things and principles that already exist in nature. The principle of the steam engine is the principle of the erupting volcano. The flying machine is a copy of birds and insects.

Knowledge is simply the discovery of what already exists in nature—the application of basic principles to our needs. The wasp was the original paper maker. The bee building its honeycomb and the beaver constructing his dam utilize about the same structural principles as man. The spider's web furnishes the idea for a fish net.

The list is endless. We create nothing in the way of knowledge. We simply discover and apply things that already exist in nature. Lucky is the man who lives close to nature, for she trains him to think straight.

In a recent week, with business supposed to be dull, the nation's bank clearings totaled $57 for every $50 of bank checks sent through the clearing houses in the corresponding week last year—when times were booming.

People haven't been spending more than in 1923. They haven't been on an orgy of paying bills. Prices haven't been higher to show up in the form of inflated clearings.

If you can explain the gain, step to the head of the class. The business experts are stumped.

Last year the American people ate more meat than ever before. The average during 1923 was nearly 170 pounds for every man, woman and child, or almost half a pound a day. A European, accustomed to being able to afford meat only once or twice a week, will consider this proof-positive of great national prosperity.

As far as the health is concerned, meat should be eaten sparingly in hot weather. That's when it does its damage.

All past records are being broken in the amount of life insurance taken out by the American people. So far this year over a fifth more life insurance has been written than in 1923, when a new record was hung up. If the rate continues, the 1924 total of new policies will be eleven billion dollars.

There was a time when this would have indicated eleven billion dollars of fear. Now it represents eleven billions of sensible investment—the surest and easiest way to save.

Only half as many Italians packed up and left their homeland in 1923 as was the yearly averge 1900 to 1913.

American immigration bars are only partly responsible for. South America stands wide open.

The Italians plainly are confident that the future looks promising in their own country, despite war debt and problems.

A curious angle is that, out of 348,000 who left Italy last year, 113,000 moved to France.

The farmer has been getting only 31 per cent more for his crops from the average acre of land than he got in 1913. But he has been paying 65 per cent more for the things he buys than in 1913.

These figures, from National Industrial Conference Board, tell the whole story of the farmers' plight. The scales will balance in time. But not by any sudden event, situation or legislation.

The cost of living is 21 per cent lower than it was at its peak in July, 1920.

But it's still over 61 per cent higher than when the war started in 1914. So reports National Industrial Conference board. Its figures are for a family of five, averaging the whole country.

Many will disagree. Most of us think it costs twice as much to live as it used to, or more. But this is undeniable. Cost of living is gradually going down. The dollar saved now will have a bigger buying power later.

NEW PROHIBITION LAW IN VIRGINIA DRASTIC

Virginia has a new prohibition law which is said to be the most drastic of its kind in the country. Manufacturing ardent spirits is felony punishable by not less than one nor more than five years in the penitentiary or in the discretion of the jury by confinement in jail not less than six nor more than twelve months and a fine not exceeding $500. Second offenders will be guilty of a felony.

No court nor judge can suspend sentence in the case of any person convicted of transporting whiskey in excess of one gallon. Maximum penalty for this act is three months with a fine not exceeding $500. Suspension of sentence is prohibited. Possession of intoxicating liquors in any amount except when lawfully acquired, is lawfully prohibited. Burden of proof is placed upon the possessor and the liquor must have been purchased before the prohibition laws went into effet or bought upon prescription. If a person dies of drinking poison whiskey the seller is liable of conviction of second degree murder and if the person poisoned does not die the maker or seller is guilty of a felony with a sentence of not less than one nor more than ten years in the penitentiary.

In the good old days the mint beds in old Virginia were ever in evidence and the cellars were never dry. Senator Carter Class is a Virginian, a prohibitionist and willing at all times to go the limit in stamping out the liquor traffic.

This world "do move." Brother Jasper is dead but his spirit goes marching on in the ancient mother land of presidents.

SATTERWHITE ON THE ROAD

Editor Lee Satterwhite of Amarillo expects to be a member of the thirty-ninth legislature and to wield the gavel over the same. Satterwhite is publisher of the Panhandle Herald, and hails from Carson county when he is not making his home in Potter county. He has been a lawmaker many times and was a member of the thirty-eighth legislature.

West Texas has never placed a favorite son in the speaker's chair. This year Dallas is going after the governor, the speaker and the Lord knows what other offices. All Dallas Democrats are modest. They would take the earth if the aforesaid was not nailed down.

"Give the people what they want, and if they don't know what they want make them take it is the motto of the Dallas politician."

UNCLE JOE CANNON

Uncle Poe Cannon is in line for the nominees of the Cleveland convention. Although a North Carolinian by birth Uncle Joe is a die-hard republican, and votes the ticket straight. This is his viewpoint, speaking of Cautious Cal and Hell and Maria:

"Both of these men have the courage of their convictions and are able to lead their country through the present industrial crisis in safety."

All the regular republicans are lauding the nominees and the platform of the Cleveland onvention just as regular democrats will be lauding the nominees and platform of the Madison Square Garden convention after the adjournment of the big democratic show.

Republicans damn the policies of the democrats and democrats damn the policies of the republicans. This is politics.

SEEIN' THINGS
By A. L. Laurence

Have you heard of What-you-may-call-it Land,
Where the Whosit gaily sings,
And the moxie sits in the golden sand
And plays with his diamond rings?
Where the moon comes up from the cerise sea
And wanders about the sky,
And baritone frogs, from their saline bogs,
Croon their plaintive lullaby?

Strange things I've seen, in this land of green,
Where the roaring oysters grow,
On maple twigs with purple wigs
And amber eyes that glow;
From deep ravine, the wild sardine
Laughs loud in fiendish glee,
At hairy monks, with scarlet trunks,
Who swing from tree to tree.

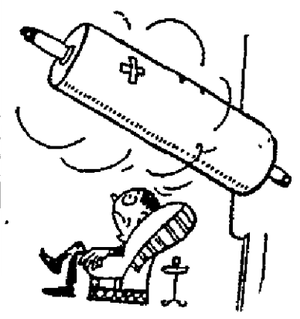

From a lake of wine the fierce clams dine,
To the strains of a rubber band,
And then they dance, in a drunken trance,
On a beach of beaten sand—
I cannot tell, all that befell,
Else you would think I lie;
You'll see these tricks if you will mix
Home brew and old mince pie.

SCIENCE NOW CURES ILL MANNERED CHILD

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Science has come to the rescue of the long-suffering parents of mean and bad tempered children.

Experts in juvenile hygiene have discovered and developed the "synthetic disposition." By steady treatment, they can impose a new personality upon a child—change him from an ill-natured pest to a happy little fellow who "scatters sunshine in the home."

And the process is very simple, too. The latest bulletin of the Children's bureau of the department of labor explains the method devised and made practical by Dr. D. A. Thom of Boston, pioneer in the field.

"Bad temper, says Dr. Thom, is a mental sickness. He treats it as such and children go "patients," in what he calls his "habit" clinics.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but important lessons on Finance Markets, Stocks, Bonds, and Investments

If a man has the power to see something coming he usually has the power to prevent it or get out of the way. This is true of the business cycle.

A generation ago, it was generally believed that the business cycle occurred every ten years. There was reason for the belief, because cycles had occurred in 1837, 1846, 1857, 1866, followed by 1873, 1884 and 1893. The gap was longer between 1893 and 1907. Since that time the panic has apparently disappeared. We had a depression in 1920, but no panic.

In the last 25 years apparently we have not only broken up the ten year sequence of cycles, but we have wiped out the panic.

Knowledge is responsible for this. We have classified accumulated experience, evolved a better banking system and discovered some economic laws. Now we seem to be able to stop a panic and get out of the way of many of the ill effects of a depression, because we have the power to see ahead.

Dr. Frank Crane's Editorials

RHYME:

I have never got over the feeling that inventing rhymes in a task for children. I can understand how seven-year-old children can say

Smarty, smarty
Had a party,

and laugh in ecstacy at their rare invention, but why on earth a grown up mind wants to twist his thought around to make it sound like another thought, which has no relation whatever to it, that I cannot grasp.

And I set it down here, for the comfort of honest and younger folk, who think as I do and dare not express their opinion, that to me rhymes are fitting enough in Mother Goose, but what Tennyson or Browning had to say might have been infinitely better said if their ideas had been expressed in a straight-forward sequence of words, arranged in accordance with the genius of our language.

Take a familiar quotation from Browning, in "A Grammarian's Funeral":

"That low man seeks a little thing to do,
Sees it and does it:
This high man with a great thing to pursue,
Dies ere he knows it.
That low man goes on adding one to one—
His hundred's soon hit:
This high man aiming at a million
Misses a unit.
That has the world here—should he need the next,
Let the world mind him.
This throws himself on God and unperplexed
Seeking shall find him."

The first impression a candid reader would get from this, if he did not know who wrote it, is that some one had rather a noble thought and expressed it in a remarkably amateur and silly way.

The two lines "His hundred's soon hit" and "Misses a unit" are pure doggerel. To make "soon hit" and "unit" rhyme is jingle of the nursery level. Also, pardon my French, making "one to one" rhyme with "million" is a bird.

Just how a man can write that sort of stuff and "put it over," as they say in the street, is one of the unfathomable mysteries to me.

The essence of poetry is not rhyme. It is symbolism, or parallelism. That is, it consists in giving to a vague thought or impression a clear outline, a beautiful and comprehensible form. Shakespeare expresses it well:

"And as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown,
the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothings
A local habitation and a name."

STORAGE TANKS MADE INTO HUGE GARAGES

BERLIN, July 7.—A company has been formed by automobile owners of this city with a view to converting unused gas storage tanks into ten-story skyscraper garages.

Automobile owners hope that through this scheme the shortage of garages, especially in the heart of the city, will be relieved. They claim that, owing to the enormously increased number of automobiles, this shortage is even more precarious than the general shortage of housing and that it has developed to such an extent, that many people had to refrain from buying cars as they could not find shelter for them.

The new skyscraper garages will house approximately 1,000 automobiles each. A sloping terrace, with a grade of one meter per hundred built around the outside of the house will give access to all ten stories.

Leach and Iglesias Star As Elks Defeat Goose Creek Again

VISITORS DROP FINAL GAME 4-1

Locals Put Game on Ice in Eighth Inning

BY VAN M. ANDRUS

FLEET footed Andy Trauth got under big Babe Miller's dangerous fly to deep center field of Lakeshore diamond, yesterday afternoon in the last inning of the game, and Leach, mainstay of the Elks' pitching force, was able to walk out of the pitcher's box with the third game of the Goose Creek-Elk series credited among his list of games won. The score was 4 to 1.

Leach pitched an unfathomable game. He was hit several times during the game, but only on one occasion, when in the eighth inning the lone Goose Creek runner scored, did he allow two of them to come in the same inning.

Support Faultless

He bewildered the Goose Creekers for seven innings, to allow one run to come about on Shelton's single and Town's double in the eighth inning, and then to resume his effective pitching with which he won the game. Leach received faultless support, not one of his team mates making a single error.

The Skipper's players scored their first run in the third inning. Vance walked, and then Leach did the thing that was so welcome to Port Arthur fans—doubled to right field and scored Vance. Evard was too strong, however, to allow any further scoring in that inning and Leach failed to score. The game continued without further tallies until the eighth inning, when Elkmen put the game on the shelf.

Davis Scored

Davis, the first man up, was given a pass. Corley sacrificed, advancing Davis to second. Iglesias then gave the crowd a thrill by making one of Evard's deliveries go over third base for a two-base hit, while Davis scored. McHale made a bobble on Vance's drive and Iglesias went to third and Vance went safe at first. Leach hit a two-bagger, scoring both Iglesias and Vance, and left his game in a secure position. Romero hit to McHale to Pate for the third out.

The Elks won two of the games in the three-game series with Goose Creek. Even so, there was not a man on the Elk team but what did not express the opinion that the Goose Creek team was the best that they had met. The Goose Creek players play the game as it should be played. They can field, they can hit, and they know how to win or to lose. Manager Lewis demonstrated an admirable spirit throughout the series. He took decisions as they came. Not once did he make any serious objection to any decision or arrangement.

Elks Deserve Credit

"Skipper" Gunn's men worked well. Each of his men took his chance without an error. They delivered when it was necessary. Leach and Iglesias stood out particularly in yesterday's game. Leach for his good pitching and for knocking in three runs, and Iglesias for his pretty work at shortstop and for scoring Davis.

New Golf Ball Type May Shorten Courses

NEW YORK, July 5.—A new golf ball, conforming in weight and size to that decided upon as "official," is being manufactured and will shortly be available for all golfers. A disappointment awaits those who play it for the first time. The ball, 1:55 ounces in weight, has much less run than those in use now.

The implement and ball committee of the U. S. G. A. has been in communication with the committee of the Royal and Ancient St. Andrews, and differences of opinion as to the desirable size and weight for a standard ball have been largely removed.

While the average duffer's game needs correction in the matter of direction rather than additional distance, it will be a great disappointment to many to get a straight long ball and feel: "If that had been my old Golden Queen, I'd have had 50 yards more on that drive."

One former champion is of the opinion that use of the new ball will necessitate shortening many courses. Oakland Hills, where the national open was played this year, is nearly 7,000 yards long, and as this champion golfer put it: "The average golfer never would get around."

Ritola's Great Running In 10,000 Meters Event Puts Finland Ahead at Paris

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

COLOMBES STADIUM, PARIS, July 7.—The first American victory in a final Olympic event, was registered this afternoon when G. Taylor, Grinnell college, won the 400 meter hurdles.

The stars and stripes went up the flagpole above the scoreboard while 18 points were chalked up for America.

Vilem of Finland finished second to Taylor, beating Ivan Riley, U. S. A., and Andre, France, who were third and fourth respectively.

Taylor's victory and Riley's third place raised America's point score to 20. Finland still was in the lead with 35 points.

Bob Legendre, New Jersey star, broke the world's record for the broad jump in pentathlon competition this afternoon with a leap of 7.6 meters.

Trailing Finland and Sweden at the end of the first day's contest, America's Olympic track and field athletes were out to reverse the standing.

Ritola Proves Hero

The point score after two events had been decided Sunday stood:

Finland 30, Sweden 11, United States 6.

The United States failed to place a man in the 10,000 meter run which was taken by Willie Ritola, an American-trained Finn in world record time. Verne Booth, U. S. A., was the first American home and he finished no better than twelfth.

Ritola ran one of the grandest races in the history of modern Olympiads, and did not even know the race was over when he crossed the line. He was setting out strongly on an extra lap when officials caught him.

Fin Wins Javelin Throw

The javelin throw was the other final event contested yesterday. This was won by Myrra, the powerful Finn. Eugene Oberst of Notre Dame took third, providing four points for the United States, while William Nuefeldt of the University of California was fifth, accounting for two more points. This showing was better than had been expected.

All four Americans entered in the 100 meters qualified—Loren Murchison, Chet Bowman, Jackson V. Scholz and Charley Paddock.

Three—Charley Brookins, G. C. Taylor and Ivan Riley—qualified in the 400 meters hurdles. C. F. Coulter having the misfortune to fall at the first hurdle.

Leroy T. Brown, H. M. Osborn and Tom Poor qualified in the high jump, while all our entries. Bill Richardson, S. C. Enck, "Soapy" Watters and Ray Dodge, made the grade in the 800 meters.

The track yesterday was slow, soaked by a heavy downpour but the running of the Americans in the trials was impressive.

BAYLOR TO PLAY AT NOTRE DAME

Bridges' Golden Bears Travel North in 1925

WACO, Texas, July 5.—Baylor took another step forward in the gridiron world when Coach Bridges signed with Notre Dame university for a game at South Bend, Ind., on Sept. 26, 1925. Negotiations have been under way for some time to match a game between the two institutions.

Coach Bridges made several efforts to bring the famous Catholic team coached by Knute Rockne to Texas for a game at either Waco or Dallas, but they already had as many foreign games on their schedule as the university would allow, efforts came to naught.

Baylor will be the first school in the southwest to play the famous clan of "micks" since 1924 when Notre Dame journeyed to the Lone Star state to play Texas and Rice, beating the Longhorns 44 to 0 and the Owls 52 to 2. Notre Dame also defeated Texas 31 to 7 in 1913.

Baylor is expected to have the strongest team in the history of the institution in 1925. They will lose but few stars of this year's team by graduation.

Work Taken Seriously By Grover Alexander

BY GROVER C. ALEXANDER
Famous Pitcher, Chicago Cubs

The successful pitcher combines the head with the arm.

The pitcher who has every natural ability, but doesn't use his head, can't hope to get very far.

The great batters are constantly trying to outmaneuver the pitcher. The only weapon the pitcher has is to play their game, try to outguess them.

The pitcher with a good arm should seek to conserve it. In the spring he should gradually work it into shape. Go slow on spring enthusiasm, save the old arm for the warm weather.

Once the arm is in shape, it is up to the pitcher to try to keep it that way by giving it every attention.

The wise pitcher conserves his strength, always tries to have something in reserve. He doesn't put all his stuff on every ball pitched. Such a system soon wears him out. Rather, he works hardest in the pinch, only.

Never Too Old to Learn

Say little but listen and see much, is my choice bit of advice to every pitcher, regardless of whether he is only an amateur, a promising minor leaguer or a star in the big show.

Always listen to advice from an older pitcher. One can always learn something about the art of pitching. I find it so each year.

I feel that my greatest asset as a pitcher is control. What success I have had in baseball I attribute more to that one thing than all others combined.

Every pitcher should work for control. No matter how much stuff a pitcher may have it avails him nothing if he can't get the ball over.

The greatest mistake most pitchers make in warming up. With many pitchers it is merely playing catch, the loosening up of the muscles. No effort is made to concentrate on their pitching.

How to Develop Control

When warming up to start a game I make an effort to put some thought back of every ball I throw.

Figuring the batter is weak on a fast ball inside, letter high, I try to throw several balls at any imaginary spot, conforming with the batter's weakness.

Then I try to keep the next four or five balls low and on the outside, on the theory that the next imaginary batsman doesn't like that style of pitching.

Then I switch to the curve ball or slow one, figuring the batsman is weak on such deliveries.

Throughout the warmup period I try to do something with every ball I throw. I have an object in mind and seek to attain results.

Never Criticize Teammates

Such kind of pitching develops perfect control. The mere throwing of the ball to the catcher is worthless from the standpoint of acquiring control.

The pitcher should never forget there are eight other players willing and anxious to aid him. The moral, don't try to strike them all out.

Don't let errors worry you, destroy your poise. Never criticise a fellow player. Just remember the player who has erred feels even worse than you do about it.

To sum up my career in the big league as a pitcher, I would say that the success that has been kind enough to come my way has been due to a willingness to work hard, listen to advice, and observe carefully the way the star pitchers work.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What beautiful flower!" exclaimed Nancy.

"What a beautiful flower!" exclaimed Nancy the next night when they came to the magic garden.

"It certainly is," said Johnny Jump Up. "It is considered one of the finest and most beautiful flowers in the whole world. Men risk their lives in all sorts of places to get it. It is called an orchid."

"Would you like to see the place where orchids grow?" asked a new voice, and a fairy popped up in the flower like a little Jack-in-the-Pulpit.

"Oh, yes, yes!" cried the Twins. "May we go on another adventure?"

"Of course!" answered the fairy. "Johnny Jump Up, please call Tommy Titmouse. Where is he?"

"I'm here," said Tommy sleepily. "Do we have to go far?"

"To South America," said the fairy. "For that is where orchids grow! I've brought the tickets."

"Jiminy Christmas!" said Tommy. "That must be a million miles away."

"Not quite," said the fairy, "but it's far enough, so you'd better be starting. The Fairy Queen sent me to tell you all to have a good time and not to miss anything."

"We won't!" cried the Twins.

"We won't!" cried Johnny Jump Up, all three hopping onto Tommy Titmouse's back and flying away.

Pretty soon they came to South America.

"Now I'll show you where several kinds of orchids grow," said Johnny Jump Up.

Tommy settled down on a great tree covered with Spanish moss and hanging vines. And there, growing right out of the trunk of the tree, was an orchid exactly like the one they had seen in the magic garden.

"It looks as though the flower was a blossom of the tree," said Johnny Jump Up. "But it isn't. It has a root of its own, only the root instead of growing in the ground digs down into a soft place in the tree and grows there."

"That's funny!" laughed the Twins.

Suddenly something went chit, chip, chatter, chatter, and, looking around, they saw a monkey swinging by his tail.

"Hello!" laughed Nick. "Do monkeys grow on trees in South America, too?"

"Pretty nearly," nodded Johnny Jump Up. "There are so many monkeys in the woods along this river you would almost think there wasn't another thing in the world but monkeys."

"Oh, look! Look! Look!" exclaimed Nancy.

But nobody needed to be told, for they could see without even looking. Hundreds of monkeys had gathered around them storing and chattering and swinging by their tails and arms, upside down and downside up and every which way. Screaming, climbing, jumping and carrying on so you couldn't hear your ears.

"I guess I'll be going," said Tommy Titmouse nervously.

"Hello," called a hoarse voice from a tree next to theirs. "I didn't know company had come."

It was a very large poll parrot with a dozen colors and a marvelous tail.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

ST. LOUIS AND THE END OF THE CRUSADES

The terrible end of the Children's crusade did not stop the attempts of Christians to get Jerusalem. Time and again they set out on new "holy wars."

In the year 1228 all of Palestine came again under the power of the Christians. This was by a treaty made with the sultan of Egypt. Both Christians and Saracens could keep their own religions, the treaty said.

Twenty years later, Mongol tribes from Asia pushed their way into Palestine and drove the Christians away.

This caused more crusades.

The last two were led by Louis the Ninth of France. He seems to have been a worthy man. In his own country, he had done a great deal to make people praise him.

Louis was devoted to the church. He wanted to see it great and powerful. So it was that he decided to do his best to win Palestine for the Christians.

Setting out with an army of about 50,000 men, he sailed for Egypt. It was believed Egypt was the "key" to the Holy Land. This meant they had to get power in the land of the Nile before they could get lasting power in Palestine.

The crusaders captured one city in Egypt. Then their success came to an end. Food was scarce. Some soldiers starved to death. Others died of disease. King Louis was caught and held prisoner.

In order to get their king back, the French had to pay a huge sum to the sultan of Egypt. They grew sick and tired of the whole idea of holy wars.

Not so with Louis. He decided to try again. It took him 20 years to get everything ready for the new crusade. Then, with a large army, he set sail.

Where do you suppose he went?

Not to the Holy Land, not even to Egypt. Louis sailed with his whole army to Tunis, a land in northern Africa.

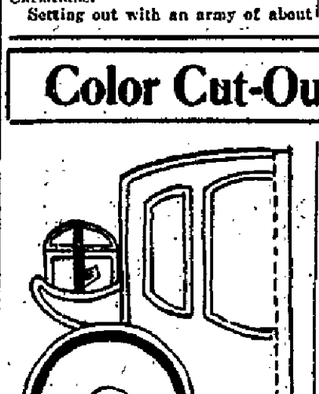

The reason was that Louis thought he saw a chance to do some good work for the church. He had heard that the ruler of Tunis was thinking of becoming a Christian. Louis supposed this might be helped along if a Christian army went into Tunis.

While his army was trying to capture a city, Louis died of fever. The "crusade" broke up. The son of Louis made peace with Tunis and began looking after his own country, France.

Louis was recognized by the church as a saint. I'm sure you know what large American city is called after him.

After the death of Louis, the people of Europe quit going on crusades toward the Holy Land.

About the only good thing I can say for "holy wars" is that they brought Europe in touch with new ideas, and taught some facts about the world to the crusaders.

An old, partly torn portrait of St. Louis.

Color Cut-Outs — AN OLD-TIME STAGE COACH

The Wild West show was ready to start. Of course, every circus must be followed by a Wild West show, and the Color Cut-outs' neighborhood circus was no exception. This show was a little different, though, because it was a one-act thriller which was to be put on by one boy, Jack Deering, who was very clever at getting up stunts.

First thing on the stage came a stage coach, the old-fashioned kind that used to take people from town to town in the west before ever the railroads were built. As it came in, some one behind the tent set off a couple of firecrackers to sound like guns. The boys and girls at the circus sat on the edges of their seats, wondering what would happen next.

Paste the lower half of the coach, which should be colored brown with tan trimmings, over the space indicated by the dotted line on the upper half, then mount the whole thing on cardboard. Tomorrow you can hitch it up.

'TOPSY' ACTING DESPITE HURTS

Charges Police With Brutally Assaulting Her

CHICAGO, July 7.—Her broken nose set and mending, Miss Rosetta Duncan, who plays "Topsy" in the stage production, "Topsy and Eva" is ready to resume her role at tonight's performance. The final act of her engagement with suburban traffic cops will be staged tomorrow in police court.

Miss Duncan was taken to a hospital Saturday with a broken nose, a fractured rib, various lacerations and two black eyes. All were administered, she said, by an "abusive" traffic policeman in Cicero, a Chicago suburb.

Cicero's police department claimed it was the diminutive actress who started the fisticuffs with a smashing left to the policeman's face.

Violated Traffic Code

It all happened because Rosetta's brother, Harold, driving an automobile load of stage folk, including Rosetta and her sister, Vivian, who plays "Eva" in the same show, failed to stop at a boulevard intersection. Harold and Vivian went to the village police station to answer charges of reckless driving. Rosetta and the other occupants of the car waited outside. While waiting at the curb, Rosetta "had to laugh at the idea of being pinched," she said. Two cops, she stated, came out and asked "what was so funny." They then assaulted her. She said they were drunk.

The Duncan sisters and Harold will appear in court Tuesday to answer charges of reckless driving and disorderly conduct at which time the argument will be resumed.

TO START WORK ON MODEL HOME

Title Cleared, All Details Ready Now

Abstract complications which arise in the clearing of any title and which have for the past two weeks delayed the beginning of work on the Model Home to be built under the sponsorship of The News and practically every business concern in the city, have all been removed and work on the building was scheduled to start today, those in charge say.

Mrs. M. L. Gill who is superintending all details connected with assembling the home which is to be the scene of the combined efforts of furnishers and material men, says the delay has not allowed enthusiasm to wane regarding the project. "Inquiries by the hundreds have been coming to me asking when the Model Home will get underway. We are glad to be able to tell everybody now that we are at work in the actual building of the structure," Mrs. Gill said today.

Materials Secured

During the delay in fixing up the abstract, all details regarding materials were worked up and will result in much time being saved now that work has commenced. The beautiful face and ornamental brick which was chosen as the best to be found among many modern varieties has already arrived. This will be moved to the grounds in Driscoll place at once.

Carpenters, plumbers, brickmasons and specialty men have all been employed and are ready to work, Mrs Gill says. The public will be kept in daily touch with the building progress and is asked to drive out and watch the home assembled from the ground up. A large sign on the lot where the home is to be located can be easily seen from Procter street at the Driscoll place entrance.

consideration.

Years past, before the completion of the Port Arthur canal, cargoes were lightered across the lake to ships anchored outside and despite this transportation handicap Port Arthur then occupied a prominent place among Gulf ports, a wide variety of commodities being thus started for export to all nations of the world.

Plan No. 2 is shown located on the Neches river, on the east bank, just above the Texas Company's Port Neches works.

Plan No. 3 is shown located on the Neches river on the two outsides of an abrupt bend in the river about five miles above plan No. 2. This group comprises five main structures, with an additional one, smaller, inside the turn of the river.

Duff's proposed line forms a loop within the city of Beaumont, thence in its approach to Port Arthur paralleling K. C. S. until it approaches port plan No. 1, when it follows, in a straight line, the general course of the river to port plan No. 2. Here it begins a big loop rivaling in size that of the K. C. S., the river and canal side of it bearing to a point nearly opposite the canal bank when it turns south and parallels the canal to a point just this side of port plan No. 1, practically, in its entirety, a large section of the K. C. S. loop.

One end of the loop, passing port plan No. 1, bears almost due west to a point just outside Port Arthur, where it again parallels the city until it reaches a point northeast of the pleasure pier, where, on the map, it is shown approaching the pier almost in a direct line to a point about a mile distant, where it comes to a stop.

Three Lines Practically Connected

At this point the three systems, S. P., K. C. S. and Duff's are practically connected, since the outside and inside of the Duff loop parallel each other on each side of the K. C. S., an additional line of the W. B. T. and S. railway branching from the main line loop at a point near Kolbs Crossing and skirting the Texas Company to a point where it forms a turn, thence crosses the K. C. S. terminal, about 17 miles above the jetties.

The inside of the large Duff loop passes through Port Arthur park at Port Neches, crossing the K. C. S. near the Texas Company asphalt plant at a point at Neches junction.

Indications are Duff will occupy the Port Arthur facilities of the T. & N. O. Southern Pacific subsidiary and it is stated that blue prints show the Duff line to come on a strip in that vicinity. There is nothing, however, on the map to indicate that Duff, on the other hand, is not contemplating the erection of his own station.

Not Through Port Acres

In its progress to the K. C. S. terminals Duff's line is shown as crossing the K. C. S. following a bend near the Gulf Refining company.

On the face of it, the blue print plans would effectually dispose of reports some time ago that Duff would pass through Port Acres, or enter the vicinity of Taylor's Bayou, since on the map the line is shown clinging to the canal front wherever possible, the only exception being that at passes Port Arthur on the west side, since location of the High school, library, Port Arthur college and homes make it impossible for the line to contemplate rail construction on the canal through the city even if no other factors prevented.

in this district by the vessel Bache, in command of Capain F. S. Borden. The Hydrographer, which has been tied up here every week-end for almost two years now is commanded by Lieutenant G. C. Jones. The Bache left for Jacksonville, Fla., on June 2. Before coming to Port Arthur, the Hydrographer was at Gulfport, Miss., for six months.

The work of the Hydrographer and the Bache extended from ten miles east of Calcasieu Pass, La., to about 15 miles west of McFadden's beach almost to High Island. The distance east and west charted by the two vessels was 63 miles, while the north and south distance out from coast ranged between 75 and 80 miles.

The Hydrographer's work extended into the Gulf about 20 miles, while the Bache carried the sounding out to a depth of 25 fathoms or 150 feet.

Out to a depth of five fathoms the Hydrographer took soundings every 300 yards, and past that depth the soundings were taken every 600 yards apart. These depths are all nicely recorded on large charts, which in turn are sent in to Washington to be checked up with the last previous soundings, and new charts made for navigators.

Many Inaccuracies

Reports of navigators on depths shallower than marked on the coast and geodetic survey charts are all turned over to the sounding vessels, and are particularly checked up. Lieutenant Thomas indicated these areas, and said that for the most part the latitude and longitude locations given by the navigators for the shallow places were found to be inaccurate. When soundings were made at the doubtful locations, the depth generally turned out to be much deeper than reported by the navigators.

"But the Bache found a number of shoals that really ought to be marked," Thomas said. "They were out beyond the sabine bank light."

Forty years, since the making of the last coast and geodetic survey chart, have gradually caused a shallowing of the area west from Sabine Pass to McFadden's beach amounting to several feet. The movement of the water coming out Sabine Pass, when caught by the gulf, is rapidly toward the west and this is held responsible for the deposit of silt. Toward the east there has been little change in depths.

In addition to taking the soundings of depths in exact north and south lines, the Hydrographer charted the exact shore line.

Officers of the Hydrographer are Lieutenant G. C. Jones, commanding officer, of Oregon; Lieutenant C. M. Thomas, executive officer, Virginia; R. P. Marshall, chief engineer, Oregon; Lieutenants J. A. Kibler, Kansas; Ensign R. C. Wilson, New York.

MAYOR LOGAN ON VACATION

Leaves for Colorado Springs On 2-Week Trip

Mayor J. P. Logan left this morning on a vacation trip to Colorado Springs, according to announcement this morning at the mayor's office by Mrs. Hallie Deemer, secretary. Accompanying the mayor was his family. The mayor is making the trip overland in his car, driving by way of Fort Worth.

Logan probably will be gone for at least two weeks, and possibly longer. If the mayor is off on his vacation more than two weeks, he likely will not be in Port Arthur when the hearing on the E. H. Miles city clerk injunction comes up at Beaumont July 22.

Commissioner B. H. Wiley was at Logan's desk this morning, acting as mayor.

CAPABLE OBSERVERS COMMEND BOX'S SERVICE IN CONGRESS

FORMER U. S. SENATOR HORACE CHILTON

"Dear Judge Box:

"I beg to commend you for your steady efforts to put our immigration statutes on a national basis."

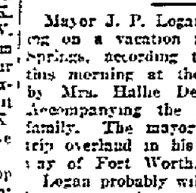

FARM AND RANCH: "Congressman John C. Box, of Jacksonville, Texas, representative of the second Texas District, a member of the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization, is to be commended for his stand for restrictive and selective immigration and his efforts to prepare a bill that will put up the bars against the undesirable elements of the old world."—February 9, 1924.

SATURDAY EVENING POST.—"There is a group of devoted and patriotic men in congress, acting without much regard for party lines—such men as Pat Harrison and David A. Reed in the Senate, Representative Albert Johnson, Judge John C. Box and some of their colleagues on the House Committee on Immigration—who are working night and day for the enactment of laws designed to raise the racial quality of our immigration and to forestall the day when we shall have a completely mongrelized America."—February 2, 1924.

LINDSTROM GETS DIRT CONTRACT

Bids From $9,000 to $3,889 Are Opened

J. A. Lindstrom's bid of $3,889 won the contract with the city this morning to move 13,000 cubic yards of dirt from Stilwell and Thomas boulevard.

Three other bidders were as follows: G. A. Root, $5,070; F. M. Taylor, $5,200; E. E. Gardner, $9,000. Contract with Lindstrom will specify that the amount of dirt moved will be estimated every 60 days for payment. Dirt will be removed from the 100, 200, 300, 500, 600, 700 and 800 blocks on Thomas boulevard and from the 2300, 2600 and 1700 blocks on Stilwell boulevard.

Eight Months of Grace

Requirement is that the dirt be moved within eight months, but City Engineer J. O. Herpin declared in commission meeting that Lindstrom had said he would move the dirt in three or four months if he won the contract.

Commissioner Wiley, presiding over the commission in the absence of Mayor Logan, suggested that the bids be held in abeyance until some place might be determined for hauling the dirt. City Engineer Herpin urged immediate acceptance of the Lindstrom bid, saying the contractor would be allowed to do with the dirt as he pleased.

"He can sell the dirt if he wants to," Herpin said. "If we say anything about hauling it anywhere, he might charge us extra for our authority."

Wiley then moved that the bid be accepted.

ROOSEVELT AN ABLE LEADER

Though Stricken, He Commands Attention

UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WALDORF HOTEL, NEW YORK, July 7.—No matter whether his candidate—Governor Al Smith of New York—wins or loses, Franklin D. Roosevelt stands out as the real hero of the democratic convention of 1924.

Advocacy has lifted him above the bickering, the religious bigotry, conflicting personal ambitions, and petty sectional prejudices.

It has made him the one leader commanding the respect and admiration of delegates from all sections of the land.

Stricken Two Years

Stricken two years ago at the zenith of his career with infantile paralysis, Roosevelt refused to concede the defeat a weaker man would have accepted. He merely smiled and fought back. It was a genuine smile, with the gameness of generations of American blood and breeding behind it.

From a lithe, athletic figure, standing six feet, two, and tipping the beam at 190, with the head of a Greek god, he had become half a man physically. That handsome head—with a new expression—that magnificent torso, were still his, but the long, straight, sturdy legs that carried him so nonchalantly through street parade in the disastrous democratic campaign of 1920 were gone. They have shriveled to mere shanks and only by the aid of steel braces and crutches can he walk.

Knows No Defeat

But the determination that knows no defeat has won him back a long way on the road to recovery. And despite his infirmity he took charge of Governor Smith's campaign. Those who have watched him in the convention and at conferences of leaders know why Al Smith picked Roosevelt to guide his political destiny. His wise and aggressive campaign has fired the admiration of all but his own conduct has been the real marvel of the convention.

Al Smith, idol of New Yorkers, has been denied the privilege of appearing in person before the convention, but it is doubtful if he or William G. McAdoo could awaken, even among his "crusaders" the depth of feeling touched by the gallant Roosevelt. Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, with all his personality, George Brennan, with all his power, Tom Taggart, with all his party service, Cordell Hull, with all his sincerity—none has brought the garden crowd to its feet in the burst of frenzied cheers that greets Roosevelt.
